

Popular rule in baroque music:

If you have two voices, often the voice with shorter-length notes should be played legato while the voice with longer-length notes should be played portamento (non-legato)